FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: January 3, 2022

New Year, New Management for NAPIM

(Annapolis, MD) – NAPIM leadership is pleased to announce that the association is now under new management. In November 2021, NAPIM’s Executive Committee selected SEVEN12 Management (SEVEN 12) to oversee the organization, bringing to the table a staff of 20+ experts in association management. Based in Annapolis, MD, SEVEN12 is a full-service association management company that provides marketing, membership, event planning, financial oversight, and strategic governance, among other areas.

“By partnering with SEVEN12, we are able to utilize the skillsets of a full staff to manage NAPIM’s program and services,” said Gregg Dahleen, NAPIM President. “Our goal is to grow the organization, and in turn, the membership, by modernizing our services and bringing new ideas and energy to our Annual Conference and other events.”

Molly Alton Mullins will serve as NAPIM’s Executive Director. With more than 20 years of association management experience, she has worked with over half a dozen manufacturing organizations in her career. John Copeland will continue to work with Molly through April 2022, ensuring a seamless transition. George Fuchs will remain NAPIM’s Director of Regulatory Affairs.

“We cannot thank John enough for his service throughout the years and all he’s done for NAPIM,” stated Dahleen. “He has been an instrumental force in this industry and has truly helped grow and shape the organization.”

You can look for additional communications on the new staffing structure, as well as contact details, to come later this month.
